Housing Plan Survey Instructions

In prior years, the FAFSA typically requested information regarding students' housing plans for the academic year, which is one of several factors used to determine students' cost of attendance. The 2026-2027 FAFSA will no longer request housing information from students. In most cases, other available information will be sufficient to calculate a student's cost of attendance. However, if your anticipated housing plan for the 2026-2027 academic year falls into one of the indicated scenarios, please fill out this form, check off the applicable housing plan scenario, and return a signed copy of this form to the Office of Student Financial Services to have your cost of attendance reviewed.

Submit this form ONLY if one of the indicated housing scenarios applies to you during the 2026-2027 academic year. Please note, if you are a returning student who lived on-campus in prior year(s) and will be moving off-campus into your own housing (not residing with a parent), then you do not need to submit this form.

Failure to submit this form will NOT result in any delays processing your aid package.

Applicable Housing Plan Scenarios (continues onto next page):

New student (freshman or transfer) in 2026-2027 who plans to reside with parent(s) during the 2026-2027 academic year
